

Announcing a new book series from Southern Illinois University Press

The World of Ulysses S. Grant

edited by John F. Marszalek and Timothy B. Smith

Forthcoming Books

(titles subject to change)

- The Best of Grant
John F. Marszalek, editor
Coming Spring 2015!
- Citizen of a Wider Commonwealth:
The Post-Presidential Diplomacy of Ulysses S. Grant
Edwina S. Campbell
- General U. S. Grant and President
Andrew Johnson
Glenna R. Schroeder-Lein
- Grant and the Native Americans
Mary Stockwell
- Ulysses S. Grant: The Making of an American Hero
Frank J. Williams

After the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, Ulysses S. Grant became the most popular American alive. He symbolized the Federal victory, the destruction of slavery, and the preservation of the Union. Grant remained a popular topic among historians who have written about those years, but over time scholars and the public removed Grant from his place in the pantheon of leading Americans. As the decades passed and attitudes toward the Civil War and war itself changed, the public's perception of Grant devolved: no longer a national idol, Grant was instead written off as a heartless general and corrupt president. In the early twenty-first century, however, Grant's place in history is being reinterpreted. Now he is increasingly seen as a success on the battlefield, a leading proponent of African American civil rights, and the first of the modern American presidents.

To further an understanding of Ulysses S. Grant through a close analysis of his life and work, this innovative book series provides a thorough examination of particular events and periods of Grant's life in order to present important insights into his generalship, presidency, influence, and reputation. Books in the series explore Grant's character as well as his role in American history. By delving into the deeper detail and context of what Grant did and saw, this series aims to break new ground and provide the historical profession and the general reading public with accurate, readable perspectives showing Grant's significant contributions to the world he lived in and to the years that followed.

Board of Advisors

Anne J. Bailey	George C. Rable
Ulysses Grant Deitz	Christian G. Samito
Joseph C. Dawson III	Craig L. Symonds
Timothy S. Good	Joan Waugh
Lesley J. Gordon	Ronald C. White, Jr.
Harold Holzer	Frank J. Williams

From Southern Illinois University Press, publisher of the Papers of Ulysses S. Grant, the Concise Lincoln Library, Civil War Campaigns in the Heartland, and the forthcoming series Law, Society, and Politics during the Civil War Era.

SIU Southern Illinois
University
CARBONDALE www.siupress.com